May 31st, 2020 - five steps to writing a stellar introduction to an academic paper an introduction is the most important part of an academic article thus in academic writing as in all writing you want to make your introduction as clear and pelling as possible"introduction binary research institute

May 16th, 2020 - binary research institute the precession of the equinox is observed as the stars moving across the sky at the rate of about 50 arc seconds per year relative to the equinox conventional theory holds that this phenomenon is due to the gravity of the sun and moon acting upon the oblate spheroid of the earth causing the axis to wobble the lunisolar theory'
